Total Productive Maintenance "a zero loss concept"– inauguration ceremony at Amona Plant

A Total Production Maintenance kickoff function was organized by Vedanta Sesa Goa Iron ore business on 4th May'16 at the Value Addition Business (VAB) in Amona. TPM practices the concept of "Zero-loss" which propagates: Zero breakdown, Zero harm and Zero defects, primarily to achieve high reliability/flexibility of equipment and reduce cost through total participation and systematic approach by the people in the organization.

VAB-Head, Mr. Navanath Vhatte welcomed the gathering. Speaking on the occasion, the Chief Guest Mr. Sushil Agarkar, Head Manufacturing, Godrej & Boyce, Mumbai said "Vedanta has travelled a successful journey of TPM implementation which has yielded beneficial results to its VAB business. The organization should continue to focus on replicating it across all other business units and plants."

CEO, Mr. Kishore Kumar also said "It is our business vision to build and work around continuous improvement for efficiency of operations and greater good to society and TPM is a means of doing things better. We will continue to make it more robust and make it a culture in the organization. "

Mr. Sushil and Mr. S Narasimhan released a hand book on topics such as basic awareness on TPM, Kaizen and one point lesson on Model Plant.

The function was a great success in motivating all the stake holders to deploy innovative technology to achieve greater productivity keeping in mind the "Zero Harm "concept. The TPM journey in the Sesa Goa Iron Ore Business was started in August 2015 under the guidance of Mr. S Narasimhan, Senior Counsellor, CII TPM Club India. It is measured on the parameters such as: Productivity, Cost, Delivery, Safety and Morale.
